Why is a glacier blue?

Blue ice occurs in the Polar Regions where there is older ice. The color comes from old compressed ice that has less oxygen.

Find out more interesting and fun facts at the CReSIS website.
www.cressis.ku.edu