

Q: What is missing from the picture?

- A. Polar ice sheets
- B. Wildlife
- C. Natural wonder
- D. All of the above

Every day, a little bit of the polar ice caps melt away. We're not exactly sure why, but we do know that if nothing is done to help, one of the earth's most beautiful natural wonders will be gone forever. The ice sheets that shine across the northern portion of the globe are not just there for looks; they're home to all sorts of different animals and wildlife. To see them go would be a shame. So do your part. Take care of the earth.

To learn more, visit the Center For the Remote Sensing of Ice Sheets at www.cresis.ku.edu.